Foreword

King Henry the Eighth 'in the seventh of his raigne on May day in the morning with Queene Katheren his wife, accompanied with manie Lordes and Ladies, rode a Maying from Greenewitch to the high ground of Shooters hill.' This account we read in an old history.

Today we of Rockford College also have our May Day. It and the May Queen tradition symbolize an ideal fashioned anew year after year. The thought stimulated by our group activities and by the faculty molds it; Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors play their part in advancing it; in the Senior Class and the chosen May Queen it finds its most complete expression; with varied festivities we hand it down.

It is the purpose of the 1930 Cupola to show how from a pageant and a festival has grown a philosophy; and how this philosophy is reflected in the greater pageant which is life at Rockford College.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The importance of Dramatic Club makes membership in this organization a part of the activities of the all-around Rockford College girl. In addition to providing entertainment, it develops the art of drama and gives opportunity to practice cooperation; it offers training in acting, directing, staging, lighting, costuming, make-up, managing and criticism. Sutradhara by Abbie F. Potts, Barrie's What Every Woman Knows, and Tennyson's Becket were the major plays of 1928-29:

Tonight, at the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Rockford, will meet to debate the United States and Australia. The formal dinner will be at 7:30 p.m. and the debate will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Forum Receives New Members

Ten new members were received in the organization of Forum last week at an informal reception, given Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock on Student Porch. Genevieve Blane, President, was in charge of the meeting at which the constitution was read, and the program for the year announced.

The new members are: Anna Behr, Kathleen Brady, Neva Hefflin, Frances Heitman, Harriet Jones, Louise Kintzel, Alice Pattee, Virginia Prohl, Sybil Saxton, and Nell Willis.

Forum To Meet Visiting Team

Brady And Behr Represent Rockford

Carleton College of Northfield, Minnesota, will send two of its students to be held Friday at the Rockford College.

Forum Discusses Point System at Tea

Realism And Debate

Debates that chronic invalid among college activities, may be eventually rescued from the dry formalism of the technique of public speaking first and foremost. Here and there students are becoming interested in foreplay, of displaying a bundle of lawyer's tricks, but rather as a means for arousing interest in the truth of problems. Yale's debate team, for example, will travel to Porto Rico for the Platt Amendment of the island region.

FORUM INVITES YOU TO DEBATE AND TEA

Just how small and just how liberal is Rockford College? Will a university education better fit us to meet the problems of middle age? Forum has invited the faculty and student body to a humorous debate on Student Porch, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when these and other most vital questions will be answered.

The proposition is: Resolved, that the small liberal arts college should be abolished. Genevieve Blane and Dorothy May Anderson will uphold the affirmative, and Myra Byers and Jane Lady will argue for the negative side.

This is the first of a series of afternoon debates Forum will sponsor this year. Tea will be served after the debate.

Forum Schedules Three Intercollegiate Debates

Forum Club has chosen the teams for the extensive debate program which has been arranged for the spring. The teams are already hard at work. On March 15, a team composed of Kathleen Brady and Anna Behr will meet Carleton College of Northfield, Minnesota, to discuss the question, 'Resolved, that full-time employment of the home should be never before had by women.'

Local Debaters Uphold Married Women Workers

The Rockford College team met at Oberlin College Chapel, last Friday evening, March 15, in the first of three intercollegiate debates. The topic was: 'Resolved, that full-time employment of the home should be upheld by married women.'

Grinnell Debate Team Goes To Oberlin

Scheduled For April 8

On Monday evening, March 18, the Forum debate team composed of Genevieve Blane, Virginia Prohl, and Alice Pattee, left for Oberlin, Ohio, to debate Oberlin College on the question, 'Resolved, that complete freedom of speech and press on political and economic questions is sound. This is one of the main planks in the platform of American democracy and a thing which we should uphold, which we have expressed our pride in, and which we have expressed our pride in, and which we have expressed our pride in.'

Students And Faculty Discuss Week-Ends Forum Hears New Try-Outs

Forum holds its first open house on Saturday, March 22, at 2 o'clock. The first try-out for the second evening debate will be held on Monday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock. The topic is: 'Resolved, that the week-end should be abolished.'

FORUM

Debating, discussion, and all forms of public speaking are carried on under the direction of the Forum. It aims to establish relations with other colleges through intercollegiate debate, and to foster interest in this phase of college life. A debate with a team from the University of Sydney, Australia, on the question, "Resolved, that this house disapproves of nationalism," debates with Carleton College, Oberlin College, and Grinnell College, talks before various organizations in town, and a series of after-dinner discussions constituted the 1928-29 forensic year.

TENNIS

The four tennis courts on the campus are in constant demand during the spring and fall months. The annual tennis tournament and the inter-class competition come in the spring. The finals in the tournament are watched by the entire college because they bring an exhibition of highly skilled and flashy tennis playing.

BASEBALL

The baseball diamond is another popular place in the spring. Pitchers begin early to practice their curves, and fielders wait for flies. Every player starts preparing for the clash of the rival teams. The inter-class competition in baseball arouses great excitement in the crowd of interested spectators which turns out for every game.

ARCHERY

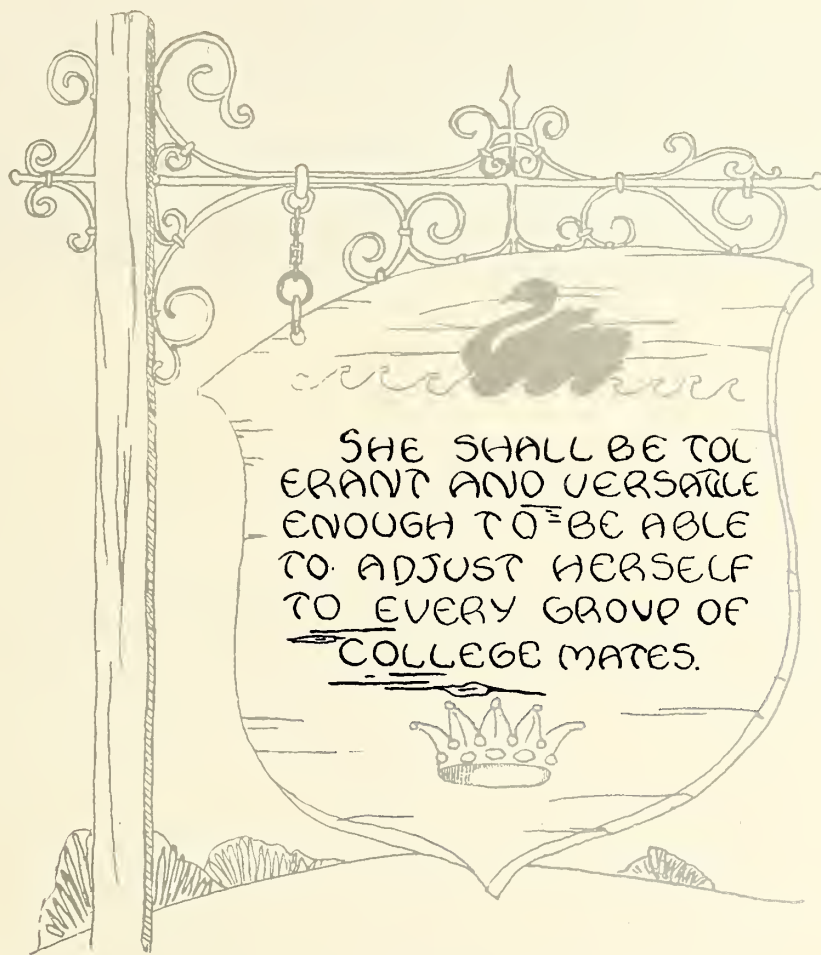

Archery is perhaps the most popular minor sport at Rockford. It is certainly the most picturesque of the competitive sports. Every year the target is put up on the north campus, where many interested girls try their luck at the bull's eye.

DANCING

Natural dancing, clogging, and folk dancing constitute an important part of the program of the Physical Education department. The minuet and Southern folk dances furnish entertainment at Washington Party. Early in the spring months, the dancers start practice for May Party, which affords an occasion for almost every kind of imaginative dancing.

ART CLUB

To create and foster interest in fine art and to contribute during the year some treasures to the art possessions of the college is the purpose of the Art Club.

OFFICERS

VIRGINIA DICKINSON	President
DORIS THOMPSON	Vice-President
MARY ELIZABETH GIBSON	Secretary-Treasurer

CLASSICAL CLUB

The Classical Club was organized last year by Miss Braginton to stimulate interest in Greek and Roman civilization. Anyone who has had two years of Greek or Latin is eligible for membership.

Meetings are held every month, the programs of which are chiefly in Latin. The play A Roman School, talks by Miss Braginton and Miss Potts, and the Roman banquet were the outstanding events of the year.

OFFICERS

HELEN CARR	President
BETTY LOU WILSON	Vice-President

FRENCH CLUB

In the informal organization called the French Club, students of French find an opportunity to converse in the language and become familiar with its use through games, lectures, and plays.

OFFICERS

MARGARET HICKS	President
DOROTHY HOOVER	Vice-President
CATHERINE COOK	Secretary-Treasurer

GLEE CLUB

This year the Glee Club has been made into an a cappella choir through the ambition of Mr. Willgeroth to give the college and community the experience of hearing this uncommon type of choral music. Some very old music, seldom heard, has been revived to stimulate interest in the new project. Especially outstanding in the 1928-29 program was the Christmas vesper service in the chapel.

OFFICERS

FLORENCE REESE	President
JANE LUDY	Business Manager
DORIS ERCANBRACK	Secretary-Treasurer

THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club has been a source of experience and enjoyment to all of its members. This organization gives teas, holds food sales, and brings occasional speakers to discuss questions of household economy. This year the club was hostess at a meeting before which Mr. Abram Mendenhall spoke on the history and manufacture of crystal glass.

OFFICERS

JOSEPHINE DENGLE	President
CECILIA CHERNALS	Vice-President
ELIZABETH SULLIVAN	Secretary-Treasurer

MATHEMATICS CLUB

Students in the advanced courses of Mathematics with the professors in the department compose the membership of the Mathematics Club. The programs of this club include outside speakers, solutions of unusual problems, and an open meeting in the spring.

OFFICERS

CHARLOTTE PURDY	President
DOROTHY MAY ANDERSON	Vice-President

QUILL CLUB

The student interested in writing finds an opportunity for practice and criticism in Quill Club under the guidance of Miss Drew. This year the noted English poet and critic, Edward Davison, was two days at the college under the auspices of Quill.

OFFICERS

MARTHA MACMILLAN	President
LOIS CARVER	Secretary-Treasurer

THE ORCHESTRA

The purpose of the college Orchestra is to interest students in good music and to familiarize them with various instruments. The first appearance of this organization during the year is at the Christmas Candle Light Supper. Later in the year the Orchestra gives a spring concert and has its annual banquet.

OFFICERS

FLORENCE LOVEJOY	Director
MARION DEAN	President
DOROTHY MAY ANDERSON	Vice-President

COLLEGE GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

All students and members of the faculty are members of the College Government Association. It is the organization through which the government of Rockford College is established and upheld. As stated in the Constitution of the College Government Association, its purpose is "to secure harmonious living of the group by prudent consideration of individuals for each other".

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Women Voters is composed of the whole student body and is attempting to establish some link between college and national citizenship. This year there have been talks by men prominent in politics, and by Soo Tsing Yu, a student from China. The League also planned the pre-election activities of the college: the straw vote, the campaign speeches, and the party on election night.

SOCIAL SERVICE CLUB

Students primarily interested in sociology and economics comprise the membership of the Social Service Club. The club works in cooperation with the Montague House Settlement, and with the Public Welfare Association of Rockford. The members also take organized trips to Chicago to gain more direct contact with social service problems. The most notable speakers brought to the college this year by the Social Service Club were Dr. Robert E. Park of the University of Chicago, and Miss Helen Myrick, the Secretary of the Illinois Society of Mental Hygiene.

THE BIG SISTER GROUP

The first strange days of the Freshman year are made less strange by the Commission of Juniors and Seniors, which we call the Big Sister Group. These girls are chosen to welcome the Freshmen and give them their initial view of college. The project is under the direction of the Y. W. C. A.

Y . W . C . A .

The Y. W. C. A. is one of the important links between the spiritual and temporal in college life. Under its leadership chapel services and "appreciation meetings" are conducted, speakers are brought to the college, and students are kept in touch with fields of cooperation and service. The Y. W. C. A. is the chief instrument for fostering friendly relations with Kobe College, Kobe, Japan, the Near East Relief, and the Student Friendship movement.

THE EVERY DAY CLUB

The Every Day Club is not a club but a philosophy of life formulated many years ago by Dr. Herrick and brought to the notice of the students in an annual chapel service.

The motto "A day's portion every day" is taken from the passage in Exodus "and the people shall go out and gather a day's portion every day." This creed obviates all regret for the past or anxiety for the future and enables its followers to live fully and completely each day's possibilities.

There is no organization. Anyone who will uphold the ideals of the founder may belong.

IVY DAY

'We follow Bacchus! Bacchus on the wing,
A-conquering!
Bacchus, young Bacchus! Good or ill betide,
We dance before him thorough kingdoms wide.'

Keats

For the day we are Bacchantes then, though far from the harbor-torn slopes of those other revellers, far from the hazy hills and wide streams where once there madly danced and madly sang the maiden followers of the young god.

Dark gloss leaves in our hair, radiance our vesture, song on our lips, for this day we are free from bonds imposed by culture's gods on our emotions. Pray Bacchus we use our freedom well on this, his day, use it to love freely and honestly our college over whose every roughened wall there creep, all entwined, the living symbols of other Bacchantes' love.

SOPHOMORE DAY

Grey stone temples facing eastward, whose great columns opened to a red dawn that a new sun might find the altars grown crimson with remembrance. A tall flame rising steadily, seeking a far god with prayers to be answered. Priests in scarlet, searching the sky with straight eyes for a sign—chanting in the hush of daybreak over remote valleys and magnificent peaks.

An old quadrangle with a dream of falling snow and a frail moon not yet gone down, and a circle of girls singing. A tall flame goes upward, seeking a hidden sun. Many young eyes go upward, seeking a sign. Sun God, guard us. Sun God, who have seen temples stand deserted in a country of things forgotten, who have seen man fail—lead us. Sun God, who are old and wise and tolerant, looking down on us singing—we who are so very young—love us.

FRESHMAN YEAR

We came to Rockford eager for happiness. As our taxi whirled us up the drive, we caught our first glimpse of ivy-colored walls, of old buildings, and we realized that those old buildings held for us a new life. We had dreamed; now we were here.

Tolo initiation pushed us into the business of college. What little worry our forced prayers and bows cost us that day, was more than compensated for by the joy of making and strengthening new friendships. Each one of us, either consciously or not, found an ideal among the upperclassmen. We began to tuck away little memories.

Freshman Play—another accomplishment. We were rushed through rehearsals. And that night we were happy, proud of our new importance.

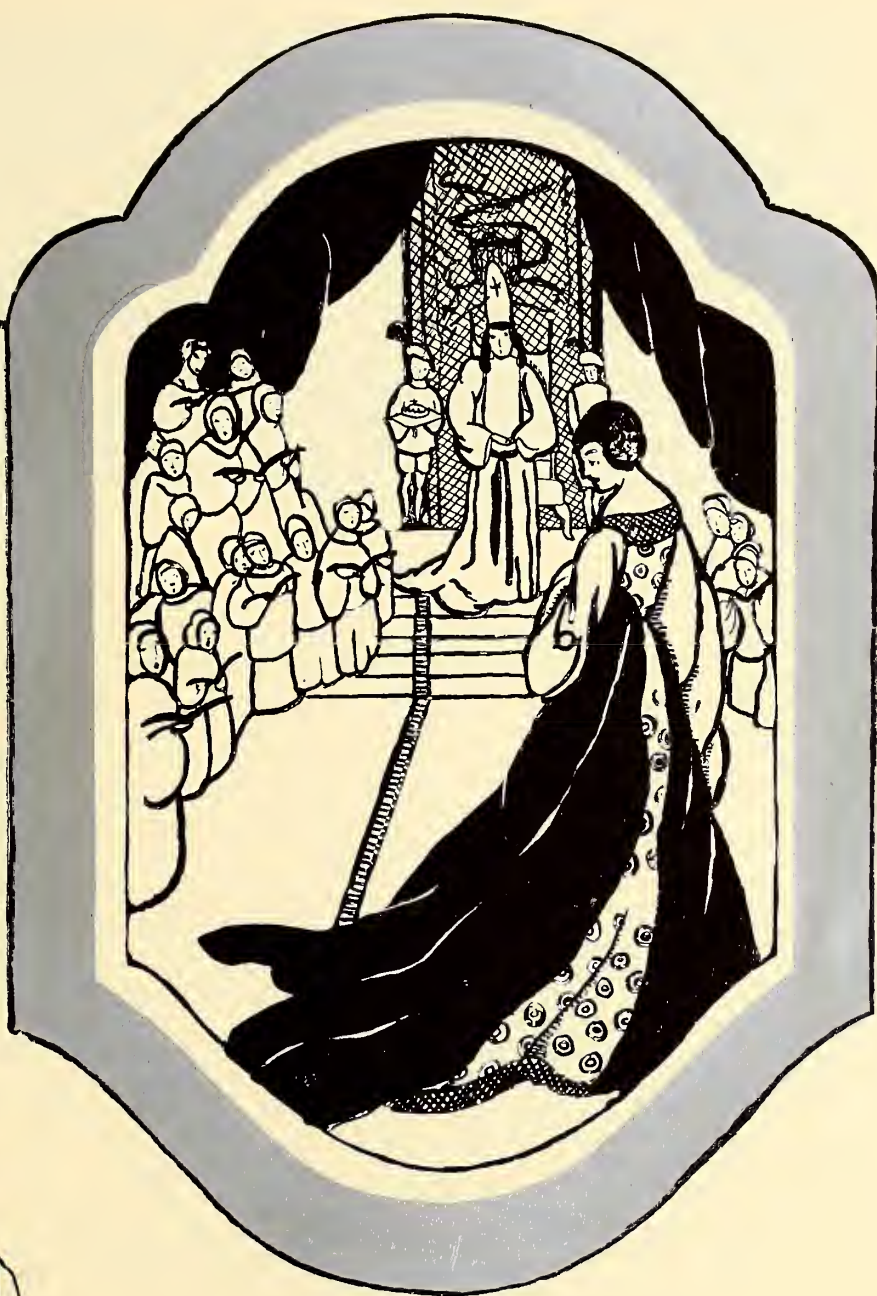

Freshman Prom brought a new kind of joy. The gym was transformed into a street in Spain. We danced; we forgot our little troubles and discouragements. And when our Prom was over we were a little sad. It was one more day to be remembered.

We are sorry that we can be Freshmen only once.

SENIOR DAY

Four years ago we Seniors, as Freshmen, gave a play. In other words, we produced something projected from within ourselves, putting our faith and trust upon ourselves.

A year later, as Sophomores, we sang to the Sun God, the most primitive of gods. We were progressing along an age old path of worship, from the self to the natural environment.

As Juniors, we gathered at night to invoke the great god Dionysius, the god of fertility, that we might grow to our full stature. Still were we growing into a new deity, one not only outside ourselves, but beyond the confines of inert matter—a god of the intelligence.

On Senior Day, older by our years of studying, striving, playing, we marched up the chapel aisle in caps and gowns, singing to the God of the Christian world, the God of soul. After a service we marched out again singing eternal fidelity to Alma Mater:

‘Rockford, to thee thy daughters turn
With ever loving eyes.’

And so we grow from a conception of life bounded by ourselves into a conception of living dependent upon a God of reason, emotion, and imagination combined, which is soul.

THE QUEEN CROWNED

*'At last forth comes that far renowned queene,
With royall pomp and princely majestie:
She is ybrought unto a paled greene,
And placed under stately canapee.'*

FLORENCE ADOLPH

The college campus was transformed overnight into an old English village green, gay with yellow, red, and blue booths. Overnight dozens of young college girls were changed into carefree English lads and lasses, all coming to see the 'rigs o' the fair' in their bright holiday breeches and petticoats. The booths of butchers, fruit-venders, jugglers, flower merchants, and bakers were alive with banter and merriment.

Then prancing hobby-horses brought in the old Queen, and were defeated in a skirmish by another troop. The victors ushered in the new Queen of the May, who was crowned by the old Queen with a crown of violets.

The rest of the afternoon the villagers performed before the throne for the Queen's pleasure. She saw the sword-dance, archery contests, hoop rolling, stilt-walking, and even the dance of 'the raggle taggle gypsies O!' All the village celebrities were there: the farmer from Fiddington, Carroty Kit, the fiddler and the plow boys.

Last of all the Maypole dance—beloved symbol of this happiest of festivals, with the long shadows of a spring twilight falling across the village green, over the jaunty booths and bright young heads.

Another year is crowned and another memory is forever sealed in the hearts of Rockford.

*'They all as glad, as birdes of joyous prime,
Thence lead her forth, about her dancing round,
Shouting, and singing all a shepheards ryme,
And with green braunches strowing all the ground,
Do worship her, as queene, with olive girlond round.'*

FLORENCE HOOKER

A year has passed, and under the same old trees the country villagers meet on May Day to select a new Queen; three maidens are their highest choice. Strains of woodland music usher in Pan and his followers, the wood nymphs and the satyrs.

The three maidens are enticed away by the followers of Pan, who refuses the pleas of Diana to return the mortals to the village festivities. The refusal arouses threats, and a battle ensues between the followers of Athena and Mars and the Centaurs, Furies and followers of Pluto. The crowd is stilled by the appearance of Iris with a message that Zeus is calling a conclave of the gods. The dispute is settled by Zeus against Pan, and Mercury is sent to bring one of the maidens back as Queen of the mortals.

The Gods depart and we are in old England again. The crowd of happy villagers is hushed expectantly as the new Queen of the May appears. She is robed in royal purple and white, and proceeds slowly to the throne upon which the Queen of last year is seated.

The old Queen crowns the new with violets in accordance with age-old tradition. The villagers continue their rejoicing, and do honor to the new Queen with a village dance and a Maypole dance.

Another setting sun warns the villagers of the end of this day of merry-making. May Day is over. But is it over? Not so. Because she whom they have chosen as Queen is the embodiment of all Rockford's finest ideals, and the ideals will live always, and with them the memory of this day. And she who is left seated on the throne has joined the endless royal procession of Rockford College Queens.

"DRESS CHANGES MANNERS"

VOLTAIRE, that keenest critic of human nature, was right. Dress does change the manners. And just as woman's costume is today more beautiful, less affected and more youthful than ever before so, too, is woman herself.

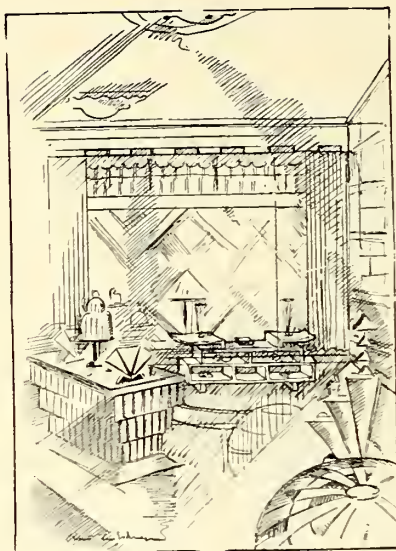

We may change our fashions and our manners, but will never change from our old-fashioned policy of Honesty and Fair-dealing.

Gifts

On North Main Street a Few Steps
beyond the Commercial Business District

One senses "modernness" from the very brightness of its orange floor-covering to the very sparkle of its myriad lights, and here one finds Gifts that are stamped with the same spirit of newness and individuality. The art centers of Europe—Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna, Venice, have been searched for their choicest offerings and now we present them to you in this pleasant, charming place to shop

RARITY IN GIFTS

- ¶ Childrens toys, adorable sweaters, frocks and accessories.
- ¶ Gifts for the home . . . china, crystal, linen, lamps.
- ¶ Gifts for men . . . apparel of the city and university type.
- ¶ Lovely intimate Gifts for women.

Unusual Perfumes, Jewelry, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Scarfs, Purses, Lingerie, Sportswear.

From the "Guest House" come gowns, hats and coats which emphasize the personal chic of the individual, effecting a "perfect ensemble."

STEADFASTLY for the last forty years the Daily Republic has stood for justice and progress in Rockford. It is a paper for the home and it is read by 70 per cent of the families of Rockford and by thousands of families outside Rockford—a great paper growing greater.

College Graduates and Undergraduates Only

Enrollments for this course must be made before the opening day—preferably some time in advance, to be sure of a place in the class.

Stenography opens the way to independence, and is a very great help in any position in life. The ability to take shorthand notes of lectures, sermons, conversations, and in many other situations, is a great asset.
